CROYDON, May 15—The regular monthly meeting of the Bristol Township Civic Association was held in the fire house last evening with approximately 70 in attendance. The meeting was called to order by the president, Oscar A. Booz, at eight p. m.

Deviating from the regular order of business, Mr. Booz introduced John Allman, present president of the Delhaas School Board, who in turn called upon Clarence Young, secretary of the School Board, to explain to the group the necessity for the six mill increase in the Township school tax. Mr. Young gave a detailed report of the proposed budget for 1951 as compared to the budget for last year. Mr. Young stated that the expenses of instruction may increase by approximately $88,000. Pending legislation in Harrisburg may demand a $100 per year progressive increase in the teachers' salaries. If this legislation does not pass, this money will be used for needed capital investments. The cost of supplies has increased from 30 to 40% and high school student tuitions, expenses of general control, auxiliary agencies, etc., have also increased. Mr. Young explained that the changing of the classification of the Township very definitely played no part in this proposed increase, as it still remains a third class school district regardless of the township classification.

WORLD NEWS IN BRIEF

Defense Secretary Marshall declared that because of General MacArthur's "attitude" toward the Administration's limited war policy Washington had been "very careful" in dealing with him for months prior to his dismissal. In his seventh appearance before the Senate committee investigating General MacArthur's ouster, General Marshall said this Government's highest authorities had felt this approach necessary because of what General MacArthur "had stated publicly in regard to the matter, because of our Allies and their reactions, and the general complications and delicacy of the situation under those conditions."

Chairman Russell of the investigating committee warned committee members to stop "leaks" of secret data given at the inquiry to outsiders, emphasizing that such tactics might injure the national military security.

It may be possible to end United States aid to Japan by July 1 because of that country's economic progress, the Defense Department said.

The Vatican was rallying its forces to combat the anti-clerical parties at the municipal elections to be held later this month and during June.

SELL-OUT COMING IN KOREA

Coming events cast their shadows before, and the coming sell-out in Korea was made just as clear as anything could be by the testimony of General Marshall last week.

The stage is all set. Now it's just a question of timing. The Truman Administration no longer dares openly to favor buying peace in Korea at the expense of giving Red China the island of Formosa and a seat in the United Nations. Yet it is perfectly obvious that such a sell-out of the things we say we have been fighting for in Korea is the only way left to bring that struggle to a halt—now that the President has decided not to do what MacArthur asked, fight to win; and not to do what many others have suggested, pull out of Korea now that we have lost all chance of turning the country and government over to a free population of Korean people. (The people are dead, demoralized or dispersed, and their country wrecked, pulverized, smashed into dust.)

For political reasons, in view of the public temper, the President, Secretary Marshall and others are issuing statement after statement protesting their opposition to the idea of appeasing Red China—that is, of giving them their two principal demands, the U. N. seat and possession of Formosa.

But there are many ways to skin a cat. Uncle Sam's diplomats can go right ahead with their protests and still see to it that Red China gets her two pounds. And the pity of it is that the American people, for all their unaccustomed interest in the issues nevertheless probably are too indifferent to the matter to figure out how they are being fooled.

All that the Truman Administration has to do is to keep

Scene of The Great Power Politics Struggle Between East and West

HOME OF THE SULTANS

Morocco, home of Sultans and the fierce, blue-skinned Berbers, has become the latest political battlefield between democracy and Communism and some observers fear it may explode into another "Korea" if Moscow has its way.

Communist activity in Morocco as described in the articles beginning herewith has split the ancient North African country's leaders and only recently caused an upheaval that narrowly missed growing into civil war.

This is the story of the Communist peril in Morocco as told in five articles by Margaret Biddle, a distinguished American woman and widely-travelled writer who has just completed a survey trip through the French protectorate, talked with its leaders and people, and interviewed members of the American mission now there building seven U. S. airbases as part of the North Atlantic defenses.

The author is the former wife of Anthony J. Biddle, Jr., who was American Ambassador to the seven Allied governments resident in England during World War Two.

RABAT, Morocco—(INS)—Morocco has become today one of International Communism's latest political battlefields in the great power politics struggle between east and west.

Such was the major conclusion drawn by this writer as the result of an on-the-spot survey of the situation in Morocco that included talks with the Sultan, with El Glaoui, the real native "power" behind the scenes, and with General Alphonse Juin, Resident General and outstanding French military leader.

Americans have a stake in Morocco today. Our defense chiefs have negotiated with the French to establish seven American air bases there as part of our farflung eagle's

FACES PROBLEMS

Most of Meeting Devoted To Discussion of Future
Plans

REHIRE 70 TEACHERS

FALLSING'ON, May 15—More than a full hour of discussion was given at the regular meeting of the Pennsbury Joint School Board meeting last evening at Pennsbury high school to tremendous problems to be created by proposed housing developments in the area.

No definite action was taken as to adoption of a plan to meet the expected influx of school children, but several were presented to the fifteen-man board and will be announced to the public when a final one is selected.

Already faced with a classroom shortage, the Pennsbury Joint School, comprised of Pennsbury, Yardley, and Lower Makefield school districts, is perhaps hit hardest of all by the advent of new population caused by the locating of new industries in the area.

The three individual boards held their respective meetings prior to the joint session, but the real work and discussion came when the joint committee met. Seventy teachers in the elementary and grade schools, already on the payroll, were rehired as part of regular procedure, and five additional teachers were signed for the coming year.

Bills for the joint operation amounting to $7,037.56 were read and approved for payment in a routine part of the meeting which lasted more than three and one-half hours.

TO ELECT OFFICERS

Much of Trouble "Military Weakness"

Lexington, Va.—Elder Statesman Bernard Baruch said today that many of the issues raised by the raging controversy over Far Eastern policy would solve themselves if more of America's strength were mobilized. "Much of our trouble," he said, "is the result of military weakness. We are trying to enforce a global doctrine of opposition to Communism with a military establishment which is sorely strained by the demands of only one theatre." And Baruch added: "In Korea today we are buying time for the whole free world to rearm. Are we doing as much as we possibly can with this time? I would be less than frank if I did not say I do not believe that we as a nation, or our allies, are doing enough."

Federal Judge Voids Almeida Trial

Philadelphia—A Federal Judge today voided the trial of David Almeida, sentenced to death for the January, 1947, murder of patrolman Cecil Ingling during a North Philadelphia supermarket holdup. Judge George A. Welsh granted a writ of habeas corpus on the grounds Almeida's rights under the constitution's 14th amendment were violated. The violation, the jurist said, was the failure of the district attorney's office to introduce as evidence at his trial a blood-stained .38-caliber bullet, believed the one which passed through Ingling's skull. Judge Welsh's 16-page opinion charged the district attorney's office with suppression of vital evidence.

Borough Council voted 13 to 5 last night to have placed upon the Primary Election Ballot a bond issue for the purpose of enlarging the municipal sewer system.

The bonds will be full faith and credit, or general obligation bonds. The suggestion was discussed of retiring the bonds out of the earnings of the sewer plant, but this was dropped as not being practical.

Those voting against submitting the bond issue were John Smoyer, III; Dennis L. Roche; James W. Eagan; William J. McHugh, and George C. Duffy. The other 13 members of council, all of whom were present, voted for the issue.

Three definite motions were made in connection with enlarging the sewer system. The first motion gave approval to the revised plans providing for a system to service 20,000 homes. The second motion provided for financing the project through full faith and credit or general obligation bonds. The third motion was to submit the bond issue to the people at the primary election.

The finance committee is to work out the details of the bond issue which will be submitted to borough council for approval in sufficient time to have the question placed upon the primary election ballot.

There was considerable discussion as to whether or not the plans had been approved, and whether or not approval should be given by the borough before the state ap-

SELLING "SERIOUS" BOOKS

"Serious book publishing might represent less of a gamble" if publishers had a better idea of what would sell and what would not.

That is the conclusion of the committee on reading development of the American Book Publishers' Council, and there is no body to dispute it. But assume, as this committee does, in recommending studies of reading habits to lesson financial risks, that blame for aversion to reading serious books can be laid at the door of the schools is going pretty far. The report says:

"Whatever emotions are aroused by memories of school are transferred to books. Thus book reading connotes the ordeal of examinations and the chore of compulsory assignment. It is not a symbol of pleasurable activity, but of imposed discipline."

That is altogether too easy a conclusion, and so is the committee's reference to "the old man school teacher" with a book in her hand as a figure "not considered to be worthy of emulation," with the consequent implication that thought of her keeps readers away from any books but works of fiction. Of a piece with these two is the assertion that "the man in the street"—how many things he has to take the blame for—looks on book-reading as "a highbrow activity which smacks of devotion to the aristocratic way of life distasteful to his notions of democracy."

Of course not all adults are readers of serious books, but that there is a considerable body of opinion which regards scholarship as undemocratic, is certainly open to challenge. A year or two years hence when the suggested studies of reading patterns are completed, the publishers' council may have a different picture to present. It may have learned that serious, if not ponderous, books are eagerly absorbed as collateral reading in schools, and that the youngsters who devour them will be the readers years hence of what publishers most want to present to the public. Certainly the nonreaders of school and college days are not likely to be serious readers in later life.

The fear on the part of some of the publishers that "widely read, easily understood popularization" may defeat their highest aims is understandable. As the report says, the serious book "may be the one medium through which modern man can escape from the pressure of contemporary living." But it has to have reader interest which presupposes a knowledge of reading taste that can be stimulated.

Scientists say man will be flying to other planets by 1990. There will be a chance to get away from it all, for those who can stick it out until then.

Perhaps, with the next presidential election drawing nearer, an order may be issued barring the employment of women at the White House who do not already have mink coats.

AT LAST - A SAFE AND SANE TRUCK BILL Senate Bill No. 615

For nearly a quarter of a century Pennsylvania has limited (maximum) gross vehicle weights to 62,000 pounds. However, the wording of the law encourages use of the sprawling, unwieldy truck and full trailer and fails to recognize the efficient, more compact, more maneuverable tandem axle semi-trailer.

Senate Bill No. 615 would encourage use of

6 REASONS WHY IT SHOULD PASS:

1. It holds the line on Pennsylvania's 20,000-pound axle load. Axle load means weight-on-highway at a given point. It is limited by law to avoid excessive wear and tear on the road. The new law would keep the same axle-load limit that has been in force for years—a limit that is on a par with, or under, the axle-load limits of other states in the industrial northeast.

2. It takes the profit out of overloading. The present law FINES THE DRIVER $25 or $50 on an overload—and that's all! The new bill TAKES THE OWNER'S PROFIT with a $100 flat fee PLUS $2 for each 100 pounds of excess load above the five percent allowance for error, and IMPOUNDS HIS TRUCK if he doesn't pay the fine, holds it until he does. That takes the profit out of overloading.

3. It advances highway safety by REQUIRING trucks to have adequate brakes. Whereas the present law makes no attempt to control truck brake sizes, the new bill would REQUIRE at least one square inch of brake surface for every 55 pounds of gross load. Most trucks have better brakes than this—but the new law forces the laggards to come up to standard!

DOES the bill provide . . . . .

HEAVIER AXLE LOAD? NO!
 LONGER TRUCKS? NO!
 WIDER TRUCKS? NO!
 HIGHER TRUCKS? NO!
JUST MORE EFFICIENT TRUCK TRANSPORTATION!

Council To Submit Sewer Bond Issue To Voters

absence of President John Smoyer, III, who was delayed. The invocation was by the Rev. George E. Boswell, rector of St. James' Church. Dennis L. Roche was selected president pro tem and presided until President Smoyer's arrival.

In brief preliminary remarks Burgess Hetherington called the attention of council to a meeting to be held this evening at the high school in the interest of establishing a Lower Bucks County Hospital. The burgess also stated that he had received no information as to the Bristol Playground Association functioning this season, but that he hoped it would do so.

He stated that he had been informed that in 1952 a one-mill tax could be levied for recreation purposes, and if such is found to be legal he would advocate its being done in the borough.

Health and Sanitation Committee was authorized to advertise for bids for the extension of sewer facilities to the site of the proposed Philo-

Plant at Route 13 and Haines road, Edgely.

Richard T. Myers, chairman of the health and sanitation committee reported that the sewer extension on Second avenue had been installed.

Joseph DeLissio, chairman of the street and highway committee, reported that his committee recommended a 40-hour week for employees on a 90-day trial basis. Council gave its approval.

He also reported the employment of Philip Rocagno on a 30-day trial basis in charge of the borough dump. Council gave its approval.

He further reported the employment of Charles F. Dugan on a 30-day trial basis as a member of the street department, and the sale of the borough roller and scraper for $629 to Nelson Bros. Both were approved.

He asked councilmen to notify him of any streets which they desired to improve.

Councilman Roche, chairman of the water supply committee, reported receipt of a low bid of $62,750 for the construction of a sedimentation tank at the waterworks by the McClane Construction Co. Council approved the letting of this contract.

Mr. Roche also reported that well

No. 4 at Bath road was badly in need of repairs.

Councilman Eagan, of the police committee, reported completion of the installation of new traffic lights, and stated that the lights on Pond street from Jefferson avenue to Dorchester street would flash caution from midnight to six a. m.

He asked for authorization to advertise for bids for installation of traffic lights at Beaver street and Route 13, and Green Lane and East Farragut avenue. Mr. Eagan also submitted an ordinance prohibiting the sale and use of BB guns, now in effect in Philadelphia, and asked that a similar ordinance be adopted here. This was referred to the police committee.

Statistical report of police department for the month of April follows: Held for court, 5; fined, 4; charges withdrawn, 3; committed to county prison, 1; turned over to parents, 1; discharged, 1.

Lodgers sheltered, 186; doors unlocked, 1; alarms answered by radio car, 544; alarms answered by Bristol township radio car, 165; fined for parking, 127; money collected for parking fines, $127; miles travelled by radio car, 5,264; parking meter collections, $738.96; dogs destroyed, 9; cats destroyed, 2; escort, 65; delinquents warned, 10; missing child returned to parents, 1; aid to injured person, 1; captured and disposed of 1 opossum; assisted ambulance crew, 1; accidents investigated, 10; persons injured in collision, 3; property only damaged in collision, 6; pedestrians injured by automobiles, 2.

S. Joseph Alta, II, former chairman of the police committee, inquired concerning the renewal of the "no-left-turn" ban at Mill street and Old Route 13, stating that council had planned to have this effective at peak periods, as soon as the new lights were installed.

The working out of this traffic regulation was left in the hands of the police committee for study, with instructions to report back to council at the next meeting.

John H. Wichser, chairman of the fire committee, reported receipt of a bid of $179 a foot for 2,000 feet of 2½" fire hose from the Eureka Company. This bid was accepted.

Councilman Myers reported to council that some of the property owners on Spruce street who had been ordered by the health board to make the proper sewer connections had thus far failed to do so, although one owner was reported to have been arrested and fined. Council instructed that the health officer of the board of health proceed against the others.

The police committee was asked to look into the question of unauthorized sale on the streets of popples, flags, etc., by those not affiliated with the local recognized service associations, and to try to prevent this being done.

Permission was requested by Foster Grow, taxi operator, to place benches at certain locations within the borough for the use of the travelling public, the benches to have his advertisement on them. This suggestion was referred to streets and highways committee.

A petition signed by numerous residents of the area was presented requesting that Adams street, in the sixth ward, be completed, and that Porter Avenue be opened into Adams street. This was referred to the street and highways committee.

Anthony Niccol, justice of the peace, turned over to borough council the sum of $89, representing fines collected for traffic violations and other minor offenses.

Sell-Out Coming in Korea

right on with its declarations of "no appeasement," and then let itself be out voted in the matter by our other allies in the cat-and-dog collection we have dragged together.

That's precisely what happened in the case of the "hot pursuit" issue when it got to be an embarrassment. Remember? When the Red China planes began shooting up our armies in Korea, and our fliers would engage them in dog-fights, they would drive the Reds right back to an imaginary line near the North Korean border—and then have to pull up their sticks and turn back.

That was just a little too much for flesh and blood to stand, and the army heads in Korea demanded the right, where U. S. planes were in "hot pursuit" of Red airplanes on their way home from slaughtering American soldiers, to keep up the chase for a reasonable distance.

Now, this was something which the pro-Communist school of thought in our State Department couldn't agree with, yet the fact was that neither the President, nor the State Department, nor the Department of National Defense, nor the Chiefs of Staff, could afford politically to tell the mothers of slain American boys that they were going to let such a technicality stand in the path of protecting our soldiers from Red planes.

How was this handled? Easy! All our big-shot military and political figures formally approved the "hot pursuit" idea—and then our cat-and-dog allies, who don't approve of our stand in Korea to begin with, and have next to no soldiers of their own on the firing line, overruled Uncle Sam, and the "hot pursuit" proposal was called off.

That's the way by which Korea can be sold out, and the appeasers and pro-Communists can give Red China the two price-less concessions she had been demanding.

Watch for the developments!

"I Believe in Jesus Christ, Our Lord"

"And the Word was made flesh and dwelt among us, and we beheld His glory, the glory as of the only begotten of the Father, full of grace and truth." (St. John 1:14)

O God, who in Thy great mercy was not content to hide Thyself in splendor, but through Jesus Christ our Lord hast borne perfect testimony to Thy nature, that through Him all men might be drawn unto Thee and be saved, we thank Thee for Thine inestimable love in the redemption of the world. Give us a due sense of all Thy mercies, that our hearts may be thankful, that we may show forth Thy praise, not only in speaking, but in living to Thy honor and glory and service. In the name of Him whose name is above every name, Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.

Five Recruits Received By The Newtown WCTU

NEWTOWN, May 15 — Newtown Women's Christian Temperance Union held a meeting on Thursday at the home of Mrs. William R. Stuckert. Enthusiasm ran high as plans were made to raise its quota for the New Crusade Fund before July, 1952. Mrs. Meta Randall, Mrs. Sara R. Smith and Mrs. Anna B. Byles were named to crystallize plans.

A drive for new members is under way. Five recruits were already secured.

Mrs. William R. Stuckert, in the devotional period, mentioned some ten instances where great mother love was portrayed in Bible stories. Mrs. William O. Gantz had an unusual paper on "Outstanding Mothers of this Era." She gave glimpses of home life in India, South America, Africa, and Korea. Everywhere is found the same love of mother for her child, even though living conditions are vastly different. The speaker introduced also the "heart mother" and gave many illustrations of work done for children not really their own.

St. Francis Vocational

EDDINGTON, May 15 — Wednesday, May 9, found the boys at St. Francis Vocational School, all astir. For some days all were busy with a bit more care than usual in their shining up and polishing up chores. The occasion was the annual visit of Cardinal Dougherty to the school. The obvious reason for the visit is the meeting of the board of directors. For the boys, however, there are more ulterior reasons. For, it is His Eminence's wont to graciously accord everyone a treat of ice cream and other good things and a bit of a holiday in honor of the occasion and as a rest from the somewhat feverish preparations.

This year, however, the Cardinal was unable to make the trip. He sent one who is not unknown at St. Francis and who was received with great enthusiasm. His Auxiliary, Bishop J. Carroll McCormick. After the meeting the boys gave a reception for their distinguished guest. After a song by all the boys, Vincent VanDyke gave one of his own in the form of Gaiety Day with guitar accompaniment. John Bonkowski was the spokesman for the boys, voicing their words of welcome.

His Excellency, after thanking the boys for their good wishes, was very careful to continue the aforementioned tradition. He said that he would be the last to wish to break such a time honored tradition. Needless to say this announcement was received with unanimous approval and the bishop left the boys with a good taste in their mouths, figuratively speaking — at least, for the time being. It would in due time become literal.

Bristol Borough

In the National Honor Society aptitude tests, some Bristol high school pupils ranked high.

A total of 6442 members of the National Honor Society took the general aptitude test with 1671 participating schools in all states, District of Columbia, Alaska, Canal Zone, Hawaii, and American schools in Argentina, Germany, Japan, and Mexico. It is considered a significant contest, in that it included the best of the best all-around students of the National Honor Society chosen from 422,622 seniors in the participating schools.

Marjorie Mannherz and Marie Pierro, of the senior class, ranked in the highest quartile; James Tessmer ranked in the third quartile, and Ronald Schmidt, in the second quartile, missing placement in the third quartile by one point.

Since all members of the National Honor Society must have, at least, a "B" average or its equivalent to be eligible into the National Honor Society, all students taking the test, by comparison with the general school population, ranked relatively high. From the total group of the Honor Society students, only a select few may take the examination and it is in this group that our students ranked; two in the highest, one in the second highest, and a fourth in the third highest.

Grandmothers, Mothers Honored at Newportville

NEWPORTVILLE, May 15—The Mother's day program in Newportville Community Presbyterian Sunday School under leadership of Fred Kohler, Sr., was opened with a hymn led by the superintendent, Raymond Perpete; a prayer and poem, "Mother's Day," by Mr. Kohler.

The Women's Bible Class presented its teacher, Mrs. Agnes Barclay, with an orchid. Mrs. Herman J. Becker, Sr., who made the presentation on behalf of the class, spoke of Mrs. Barclay's many motherly acts. She told how Mrs. Barclay fed and sheltered little orphans, also many former student-pastors of the church, and mentioned that through her efforts the class contributes annually to the "polio" fund, and Bible Society, flowers for the sick and other missionary work, taking time to help others in addition to caring for her own family. Mrs. Barclay expressed appreciation for the remembrance.

The children from the primary and beginners' departments, under leadership of Mrs. John Lowrie, sang "I Am With You Always" and "He Loves Us So."

The pastor, the Rev. Lester E. Paul, spoke concerning mothers and said his nomination for the "mother of the year" would be his own mother.

All grandmothers present favored with a hymn, "I Would Be True," after which the men's Bible class presented each grandmother with a geranium. All mothers were presented with small plants.
